

THE DAILY BULLETIN.
WEDNESDAY EVE., OCTOBER 8, 1884

Mr. Powers and the Tariff.

"They are charging me with being a 'free trader.' That is false and Mr. Wadsworth and his friends know it. 'I stand by the Democratic platform 'which gives no uncertain sound as to 'tariff.'

FRANK POWERS.

That is what Mr. Powers writes with his own hand, and that is where the BULLETIN placed him, and by his authority. He does not mean that he shall be misunderstood, and to that end has made his meaning so plain that any man can comprehend it. Any man who puts him in his position respecting the tariff not in accord with the National Democratic platform misrepresents him.

From Mr. Wadsworth's. Organ.

THIRTY-THREE horse thieves have been hanged within a short time by the vigilantes of New Mexico.

Horace Greeley was alive he'd say, thirty-three Democrats gone to their final account. ("New Republican."

The election in Ohio will take place next Tuesday. The fight will be a hotly contested one with the chances about even. The Democrats are very hopeful of carrying the State, but even should they be defeated by less than 10,000 majority, it will still be a great victory for them, and will carry encouragement to the friends of good government all over the Union. In the meantime we hope for the best.

The man who once proposed to abandon a part of the constitution as "bran and hucks" is not a safe man to follow. If he was willing to depart from the constitution once he will be willing to do it again. If the Presidential election should by any chance be thrown on the House of Representatives, and Mr. Wadsworth was a member of that body, would any "bran and hucks" of the constitution be permitted to stand in the way of the success of his party?

The apathy of the Republicans in the Congressional race is only assumed. Don't take any stock in it, for they are working secretly like beavers everywhere in the district. Don't be misled by appearances. You are contending with a treacherous foe, and the present policy is to throw the Democracy off their guard and thus weaken the opposition. Every Democrat ought to be at work and continue it until the last minute. And the Democracy also ought to understand that every vote will be needed.

History Repeating Itself.

The Blaine circus has become the laughing stock of the whole country. The idea of exhibiting the tattooed candidate like a ribbed stallion at a country fair is ludicrous indeed.

As for the speeches made by Mr. Blaine, they are simply a few sentences of blarney, varying but little in style or sentiment, and intended to be suited to the locality at which he is being exhibited.

In 1852 General Scott as the candidate of the Whig party was exhibited the same way by his managers. He also indulged in saccharine speeches which Mr. Blaine seems to be faithfully imitating. He spoke of the "sweet Irish brogue and the rich German accent." When the votes were counted the Scott circus went into liquidation.

Horace Greeley in 1872 undertook a similar experiment and failed. History repeats itself, and the Blaine circus is likely to wind up its trip at the head of Salt River.

In 1868, the editor of the Eagle denounced Mr. Wadsworth for deserting the Union Democratic party and dropping over to the Radicals. He said: "He 'asks no what we are going to do about it' and then politely invites us to join in the revolution and participate in the 'crime.' He has reconsidered all this and is now one of the managers of Mr. Wadsworth's canvass for Congress.

In 1863 Judge Thomas, the other manager, if what the Eagle said in 1870 is true, while professing to be a friend of Mr. Wadsworth's, deliberately set to work to betray him to secure the Congressional nomination for himself. Here is what the editor of the Eagle wrote of his fellow manager, October 19, 1870: "In 1863, Mr. Thomas wrote to Hon. W. H. Wadsworth a number of letters urging him to become a candidate for re-election to Congress, and endorsing his 'votes as the Representative from this district; but at that very time he was 'engaged in sowing the seeds of disaffection against Mr. Wadsworth, in 'peaching his Unionism, and was a party to an intrigue to supplant him. The 'movement he had secretly inaugurated 'with the hope that the choice of the 'opposition to Mr. Wadsworth would 'fall upon him."

Surely politics make strange bed-fellows.

The editor of the Eagle, who is now credited with being one of the managers of Mr. Wadsworth's canvass for Congress, gives these instances of his political inconsistency. The following is taken from the Eagle of September 2, 1863: "In the fall of 1862 Vallandigham 'was a candidate for Congress in Ohio against General Schenck. Mr. Wadsworth earnestly desired his election and was only prevented from can- vassing his district by the Confederate 'invasion of Kentucky.' However, he wrote the following letter:

"Yesterday, we had a skirmish with four hundred guerrillas. Such is our condition that in the presence of God, an impen- derable and invincible force, we have no 'leisure' to consider the influence of an abolition Congress we have brought against these raids and I have command of the forces of the State to repel them. May God in his mercy spare us the final reign of these 'anarchists' before we are 'done' with every one of them be it effected. May God help us to repel them and to save and restore the Union and peace. Whatever may be done against secession and the South, we are the Union, and the South, 'I will endeavor. Success to you."

W. H. WADSWORTH.

The other instance is referred to in a speech made by the editor of the Eagle, in this city, September 10, 1863. He said: "Mr. Wadsworth's fourth reason why we should vote the Radical ticket is his as- sertion that the plan of reconstruction has been accomplished and cannot be undone. He asks us what we intend to do about it, and then politely invites us to join in the revolution and par- ticipate in the crime. As we might, the assassin who had murdered your sleeping wife and babe with their precious blood still dripping from his dagger, and the smell fresh upon his garments, say to these who had caught him in the act; why make all this fuss? Those you love are already dead. You cannot bring them back to life again to the villainous assassin and execute him. We arraign the Radical party as the assassin of the people's liberty, and the fact that the murder has been perpet- rated will not be accepted as a pallia- tion of its crimes. We refuse to trust the men who have done these things lest they should proceed still further in despotism and infamy."

Here you have an illustration of Mr. Wadsworth's great double act, from his political manager himself. It was on the strength of this record that he was forced upon the Republican party as their can- didate at the expense of Culbertson. It was claimed that his grand entry into political life would hug Democratic voters and the finale would attract Republican support. But both will fail. As the Eagle said the other day, "he has never claimed to be a Democrat," and as Col. Worthington declared, "his record as a Republican is not such as to command him to the Republicans of the Ninth district.

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

WEDNESDAY EVE. OCTOBER 8, 1884

ROSSER & McCARTHY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
TO WHOM ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS

I'm wishing now, with all my heart,
I hadn't went and gone,
And then I went back into the yoke
And put the yoke on me;
Because, you see, I'm much afraid,
I cannot make a run,
Like that I made when they backed me
In eighteen sixty-one.

THE Kentucky Masonic Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Bowling Green, has assigned.

"Rough on Itch," cures humors, eruptions, ringworm, tetter, salt rheum, frost-bitten feet, chilblains.

ACCORDING to the Signal Service calculations a cool wave is due in the Ohio valley this afternoon.

A hand-made cigar case, very handsome, will be raffled at the European Hotel to-night at 10 cents a chance.

THE Cleveland, Hendricks and Powers clubs will meet at the court house next Friday evening. Don't fail to be there.

MR. JAMES C. WILSON yesterday sold two lots in Woodville to Mrs. A. J. Williams. The sale was made through the agency of M. F. Marsh.

MR. ROBERT F. MEANS has just put up in front of his lot in East Maysville a wire and iron fence, which is one of the handsomest in the city.

The funeral of Miss Charlotte Taylor will take place from the Church of the Holy Trinity, this afternoon, at three o'clock. Services by Rev. B. Hudgings, the pastor.

The farm of Miss Eliza Walker, deceased, near Washington, was sold on Monday, at private sale, to Mr. James Tucker, Jr., for $130 an acre. The place contains seventy-three acres.

Don't forget the Democratic meeting at Aberdeen this evening. The Cleveland, Hendricks and Powers club and all other Democrats are invited. Let the Maysville delegation be a large one.

A DANCE given last night by Misses Lilly and Louisa Schatzmann, at their former residence, in the West End, was a very pleasant affair, and was attended by a large number of their acquaintances.

The colored Odd Fellows will parade at Cincinnati on Thursday, and lodges from the following places will attend: Mt. Sterling, Winchester, Lexington, Maysville, Mayslick, Washington, Paris and other cities.

Business Change.

The firm name of L. Foster & Co., proprietors of the Magnolia Flour Mills, in this city, has been changed to Foster & Sulser, Mr. George W. Sulser having bought a one-half interest in the business.

THE Missouri Steam Washer, said to be the best in use, can be seen at G. W. Geissel's store or at room No. 11, at the Hill House. It is something that every housekeeper ought to have. Mrs. Arch. L. Scudter is the agent in this city. See advertisement elsewhere.

MESSRS. A. B. GREENWOOD and C. M. Browning, have rented one of the stores in the Zweigard building and will open about the first of next month a stock of wall paper, window shades, paints, oils, varnishes, brushes and painter's supplies generally. Mr. Greenwood is a practical painter of long experience, and Mr. Browning is also well acquainted with the business. They invite their friends to call and see them.

THE following interesting advice to men who attend Democratic conventions, was written by the editor of the Mayville Eagle. We find it in the issue of August 28th, 1883, about the time when Mr. Wadsworth was preparing to flop over to Granville, and all that term implies:

"A man who submits his name to a convention must abide by its decision. It is known that conventions are often manipulated so that their action does not fairly represent the will of the people, but when a man goes into one, he does so with his eyes open to the fact and agrees to take the chances. In the present instance the nominee must be supported by all. There will be no such nonsense as an independent candidate. Those who go before a convention and those who stay out of it, must alike submit to its action. The man who goes before it and bolts, will be disgraced. The man who does not go before it and runs independently, will not win without patronage or some."

There is a sound opinion from one of Mr. Wadsworth's own managers. We commend it to the attention of his Democratic "personal friends" who are asked to bolt the Democratic nomination and vote to save the Sagamore Leaf from sinking.

THE Barnum Street Parade.

No show has ever attempted to equal the glories and brilliant innovations of the famous Barnum and London Shows' matchless procession, one of which will occur here Saturday, October 13th. Like the performance itself, which marks the most conspicuous era in arctic amusements, it is without a rival. The Chicago Daily Mail of September 1st, says of the pageant:

The Barnum-London Show excited high admiration by its street parade in Chicago to-day. It was the opening of a week's season on the lake front. The parade was unique and curious in beauty and extravagance, and attracted great crowds of people in the streets through which the march was made. The golden chariots, gilded cages, wherein living beasts were exposed, and elaborate band wagons were all as attractive as they could possibly be. The ethnological congress and strange people were placed in conspicuous sight of all, and their nativity was plainly discerned. The herd of elephants, the harnessed dromedaries, the alegorical accessories, the jubilee singers, the bell chimes, the mammoth orchestra, the band, the magnificent set of Percherons, the racing chariots, the cavalcade of lady riders, the mounted men, and, in fact, everything was given as advertised, and was quite successful. Barnum's season here promises to be very profitable. He has always been well patronized in this city, and he boasts that his entertainment is now better than ever before. Among the prominent features of the show, aside from the colossal Jumbo, the baby elephant and mother, and other rare animals which made the sacred elephant, purchased from King Theba, of Burmah, for $300,000, and the Burmese, Nubians, Afghans, Hindoos, Toda people, Nanchang, dancing girls, images and bronzes.

MEXICAN RIOT TERRORS

El Coyote, the Bandit, Still Holds High Carnival.

His Forces greatly augmented recently by the addition of struggling Bandits—The Various Causes of the Trouble Explained.

NEUVA LAREDO, Mex., Oct. 8.—A well posted person who has just arrived from the interior, attributes the real cause of the recent bloody riot in the town of Salines to the high state of political excitement between the Tepes and Narvaez parties, both of which have candidates in the field for the Governorship of the State of Nueva Laredo.

Alcalde Santa and his father were prominent supporters of General Trevino. It is thought El Coyote, the bandit, who attempted to lead the attack by the adherents of the General Narvaez faction. The Alcalde was killed in the presence of his wife and aged mother, in late October. Santa is a red river, a favorite fortification in the buildings which they captured and were successfully resisting. The Government troops sent against them. A serious outcome is apprehended.

The Chief of Police has issued orders to shoot no quarter to the bandits, and efforts are being made to slay the desperate leader of the gang, without whom, it is thought, the ruffians could be easily vanquished and the band broken up. The terror among women is painful. The bandit, in dignified words, says they are subjected to the gang elsewhere is worse than death itself, and it is not surprising to see that all who can do so are seeking safety in flight.

Intelligence received late says that El Coyote, with nearly 200 men, is bivouacked at Villalpamala, some thirty-five miles below Salines and only twenty miles from Bustamante, the scene of his former attack about a year ago. This indicates that El Coyote has for some time diverted his forces to the south, doubtless meditating an attack upon Bustamante before sweeping north with his main body. Since leaving Salines, El Coyote's forces have been greatly augmented by adding bandits who have also sought refuge under the bloody Wolf. Some reports place the outlaw's forces as high as 300. It is questionable whether the Government forces in this section are strong enough to give battle to them.

There is no longer any doubt that the recent sanguinary attack on the municipal authorities of Salines was aided and abetted by many respectable citizens. Alcalde Santa and his chief were guilty of the most flagrant and tympanical. The summary hearings visited upon Judge Santos and the Chief of Police has aroused a similar spirit of resentment in many other towns against their municipal authorities.

It is a notorious fact that the Alcalde, Mayor, and other public and Federal authorities, are veritable devils, not amenable to the law. Similar uprisings are therefore anticipated at other points.

ANIMAL DISEASES.

Efforts Made to Stop the Importation of Infected Cattle.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 8.—The latest news from the South has informed that the recent regulation of the commerce at Washington, the importation of meat cattle into the United States is now confined to four ports on the Atlantic seaboard—Portland, Boston, New York and Baltimore. New Orleans had done considerable business in the importation of fancy breeds from England. The quarantine has been strictly maintained at the expense of the importers until the care of the animals, from the time of their arrival, and no contagious disease of any kind has been introduced into the country by importation of cattle through this port. The Collector, General Badger, has made a protest to the authorities at Washington, claiming that the cost of the Government in depriving a class of men of 3,000 miles of the right to import cattle will, with the increased expense of import and quarantining in Eastern ports, operate as a prohibition of the importation of cattle into the grazing lands of the South and Southwest. Even now he is in receipt of a communication from an importer of Mobile, Alabama, in which he states that he desires to import from 100 to 150 head of Jersey cattle through this port at an early date.

CATTLE MISSING.

Thousands of cattle supposed to be captured by the Piegan Indians.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 4.—A gentleman at present in this city, who is largely interested in cattle raising in the Northwest, received word last night that cattle were being 3,700 which were being driven from Manitoba and Canada, near Fort McLeod, although long overdue had not arrived yet.

The attention of the Dominion Government was called to the fact, to the knowledge in which the South Piegan Indians of Montana were extorting ten cents per head on all cattle drivers across their reserve, hoping that the master would be laid before the authorities at Washington. The gentlemen alluded to have been unable to get any information on the verge of starvation they have not been satisfied with ten cents per head, but have appropriated what cattle they saw it to take. Possibly, he says, the cowboys have driven the cattle through by the most tortuous route in order to avoid the Indians, who, provided for food are becoming more hostile. He states that the general opinion prevails among ranchmen in the Northwest that there is some movement on the part of the Indian and Indian agents by which the Indians receive a portion of the tribute money paid for closing their eyes to the transactions alluded to.

Secretary Teller Going Home.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Secretary Teller has left Washington for New York, where he will visit the President for a day or two. He will then go to Colorado and expects to return to Washington in time to receive the annual report of the Bureau Officers of the Interior Department will soon be ready, but the Secretary has decided not to give them to the public until after his return from his Western trip.

Victor Artillerymen.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 8.—The ancient and honorable artillery company observed its annual Parade Monday evening to Bed ford. A patriotic city under escort of Company E, First Infantry, a banquet at the City Hall and a late return home.

Indian Troubles.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has made arrangements for the removal of the Tonkawa Indians from Texas to the Iowa reservation.

Cuticura

A POSITIVE CURE

FOR EVERY FORM OF SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASE, FROM PIMPLES TO SCROFULA.

I have had the pustules for nine months, about five months ago. I applied to a doctor near Boston, who helped me but unfortunately did not cure me. I tried Cuticura and his medicine for nearly three months, but the disease did not leave. I saw Mr. Carpenter's advertisement in the paper and I thought his case perfectly described mine. I tried the Cuticura and Cuticura Soap. I am now perfectly well and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap in proportion, and call myself completely cured. I am now a healthy man again.

FRANK C. SWAN, Druggist, Haverhill, Mass.

ECZEMA TWENTY YEARS.

Cured—Not a sign of its Reappearance. Your Cuticura has done a wonderful work for me. I have had the disease for twenty years, and it has been a sign of its reappearance since I cured me of a very bad Eczema which had troubled me for more than twenty years. I shall always speak well of Cuticura. I sell a great deal of it.

R. S. HORTON, Myrtle, Miss.

BEST FOR ANYTHING.

Having used your Cuticura for eighteen months for Tetter, and finally cured it, I am anxious to get it to sell on commission. I can receive 10% on all sales.

I have used for Tetter, Burns, Cuts, etc. etc. In fact, it is the best medicine I have ever tried for anything.
